RESOLUTIONS.

On Sunday, June 28th, 1914, at his home in Catlettsburg, Ky., Rowland Clay Burns, an eminent and learned advocate of the Boyd county bar, departed this life.

Born on December 1, 1846, in Lawrence county, Ky., the son of Judge John M. and Kizzie Clay Burns, the subject of this sketch, in his early manhood located at Catlettsburg, Ky., in the practice of his profession. Endowed with all the qualities of a lawyer and advocate, he at once took first rank in his profession and became one of the shining lights of the Kentucky bar. As a lawyer he was deeply learned in the principles of the law; as an advocate, he was skillful, adroit, eloquent and successful; as a counselor and adviser, he was safe and consistent. His success in his profession was instant, and he was always regarded as one of the ablest lawyers, most eloquent advocates and skillful practitioners at the bar. As a citizen he was public spirited. As a friend he was loyal and true, and as father and husband, he was tender and kind and generous. His loyalty to his home city has contributed largely to its upbuilding and his services have been valuable to the entire community.

Now, therefore, whereas, death has removed from our midst this honorable man and called him from the activities of this life to those of the Celestial Bar above; and

Whereas, his loss is a public loss and a cause of public bereavement,

Be it resolved by the bar of Boyd county, Ky., that in the death of Rowland Clay Burns, the bar has lost one of its most brilliant lights; the community an honored and valuable citizen; his associates a loyal and sincere friend, and his family a kind and tender father.

Second, that our sympathy and condolence be extended to the bereaved family and that we point them for comfort and for solace to Him, who doeth all things well.

Third, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this court; a copy be sent to the family of the deceased, and a copy be published in the Sandy Valley Call, of Catlettsburg, Ky., and the Big Sandy News, of Louisa, Ky.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN J. MONTAGUE,
JOHN W. WOODS,
EDGAR B. HAGER,
Committee.
